Charlotte, NC. March 16th, 2018— Hyde Park Partners officially announced last week that Jerry Zimmerman has been appointed President of Livingston & Haven, effective March, 2nd. He succeeds Tim Gillig, who has been promoted to a newly created position, President of Hyde Park Partners, also effective March 2nd.

On Friday, March 2nd Clifton Vann, CEO, announced the promotion of Tim Gillig to President of Hyde Park Partners. Gillig has spent the last 34 years with the company, most recently as President of Livingston & Haven. Gillig's new role will focus on the corporate manufacturing and integration business of HPP.

"We believe that manufacturing for us is a differentiator in the market place and thus very strategic to our growth plans," explained Vann. He continued, stating that "we anticipate exponential growth in this area of our business in the coming years and Tim's experience with Livingston & Haven will be invaluable in this effort."

As a result, Jerry Zimmerman has been named President of Livingston & Haven after serving a successful eight years as Gillig's Vice President of Sales. When addressing the transition, Gillig praised Zimmerman and the continued leadership team of L&H stating they are "a professional, high energy, no-nonsense executive team," and that he is "proud and appreciative [of them] for their loyalty and work ethic."

The Board of Directors have charged their new President, Zimmerman, to grow Livingston & Haven's distribution business and bring continuity to the previous work done by Gillig.
